Bruce Farrell Loses His Life Swimming in Harbor.

COUSIN FIGHTS TO RESCUE

Companion Struggles in Vain to Save Boy from Death—Forced to Give Up Efforts in Order to Save Himself—Body Is Recovered by the Police—His Parents Notified.

Bruce Farrell, of Blackstone Post-office, Md., was drowned in the harbor yesterday afternoon, but only after his cousin, Lee Farrell, had made a desperate fight, against great odds, to rescue him.

The two went under the water repeatedly. Before aid could reach them Bruce went under for the last time, and his cousin was almost exhausted.

Young Farrell was in the city visiting relatives at Eleventh and P streets southwest, and yesterday afternoon went to the wharf at the foot of Twelfth street southwest to go in swimming. Although able to keep himself afloat to a certain extent, he was not a good swimmer, and, while frolicking in the water, went out beyond his depth.

He yelled for help and went down. His cousin, Lee Farrell, with whom he had gone to the wharf, swam quickly to his side and tried to bring him back into shallow water.

The drowning youth, however, being bigger and heavier, dragged the rescuer down in his struggles. After being pulled under twice, Lee was compelled to let go his hold to save himself. Several of the other boys tried to lend assistance, but their efforts were unavailing.

Two of them clambered into a barge and rowed as rapidly as possible to the harbor master's office, and told Sergt. Deal, on duty there, that a boy had been drowned at Twelfth street.

Body Found by Police.

Sergt. Deal ordered out his men and steamed for the scene in the police boat. Half an hour after their arrival they brought up the body, apparently lifeless. Despite this fact, the sergeant and his men worked on him for fully half an hour. Their efforts were in vain, however, as there was no sign of life at the end of this period.

Young Farrell's body was taken to the morgue and the coroner was notified. The lad's companions carried the sad news to his relatives, who were awaiting the arrival of the body at the morgue. His parents in St. Mary's County were immediately notified, but no funeral arrangements have been made yet.

ZELAYA IN SALT BUSINESS.

Nicaraguan President Forms Company to Take Over Monopoly.

President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, is an enterprising statesman. United States Consul F. M. Taylor, at San Juan del Norte, has advised the Bureau of Manufactures that President Zelaya, Angel Calkieris, E. Palacios & Co., and Julio Weis have formed a joint stock corporation for the purpose of taking over the Nicaragua salt monopoly which was granted in May, 1906, to the late President. The company has the high-sounding name of "Compania Salinera de Nicaragua (Limitada)," and is capitalized at $100,000. The salt concession is for a period of thirty years, dating from February 14, 1906, and gives the exclusive franchise to manufacture, sell, and export table salt in Nicaragua.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, Weather Bureau.

Washington, D. C., July 20-9 p. m.

High temperatures continued quite generally during Saturday, although thunder showers attended some relief in the Middle Atlantic States, the Dakotas, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, and the Northern Plains. There were also local showers in the Southern States, the Middle Mississippi Valley, and Michigan Territory.

There will be showers Sunday in the Northwest and Central Rocky Mountain region, followed by generally fair weather. In the Middle West and Upper Mississippi valleys and the Western Lake region partly cloudy weather Sunday will be followed by showers at night. In the Southwest over the northern portion of the country the weather will be generally fair Sunday and Monday, preceded by showers Sunday in New England. In the South Atlantic and East Gulf States local showers will probably continue, while in the Southwest fair weather will prevail. There is no immediate prospect of general temperature changes of decided character.

The winds along the New England coast will be light to fresh westward to west, on the Middle Atlantic coast light to fresh northeast to east, becoming variable; on the South Atlantic coast light and mostly south to southwest; on the East Gulf coast light and mostly south; on the West Gulf coast light to fresh south; on the Lower Lakes light to fresh westward, becoming variable; on the Upper Lakes variable, becoming southeasterly and fresh.

Funeral of George F. Smith.

Funeral services will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon in his late home, 67 G street southeast, over the body of George F. Smith, a letter carrier, who died last Friday of typhoid pneumonia.

In point of service, Mr. Smith was one of the oldest letter carriers in the District, having entered the department thirty years ago, when eighteen years old. He is survived by a wife and daughter.

COMMUTERS' PLANS COMPLETE.

County Committee Adopts Constitution for Association.

By the adoption of a constitution, to be presented for confirmation at a mass-meeting to be held at Falls Church Tuesday night, the committee on permanent organization of the Washington, Arlington and Falls Church Commuters' Association, last night made further progress toward obtaining desired improvements in the service of the road. Those in attendance at the meeting in the residence of R. C. L. Moncure, were H. A. Fellows, Jeremiah Connolly, Harry A. Birge, Frederick Dudley, C. N. McGroarty, and R. C. L. Moncure.

The permanent association, with headquarters at Falls Church, will include the residents of Fairfax, Vienna, Robey, Glenclaryn, Ballston, Clarendon, Fort Myer Heights, and Arlington. The affairs of the association will be placed in the hands of a governing board, consisting of delegates from each of these stations, upon a percentage of one delegate for every fifty or multiple of fifty residents. Only regular commuters will be eligible for membership, though all residents along the line over sixteen years of age will be entitled to membership in the association.

The officers will consist of a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and attorney. The dues will be 50 cents annually. It is expected that there will be a large attendance at the mass meeting Tuesday. Addresses will be made by Attorneys Crandall Mackay and R. C. L. Moncure, and by representatives of the various branches of the association.

MANY ROBBERIES REPORTED

Burglary Said to Be on Increase in the District.

Several Arrests Made by Police Do Not Seem to Check the Depredations.

Burglary is on the increase in the District. Many cases of housebreaking and the robbing of vacant houses have been brought to the attention of the local police within the last few weeks. These cases have continued from day to day, and despite the arrests made there is apparently no diminution in their number. It is not believed by the police that this is the work of an organized gang, as the close questioning by the headquarters men of all prisoners has not developed any connection between any two of the crimes.

P. J. Walsh, of 1336 New York avenue northwest, reported yesterday that house 211 I street northwest had been entered within the last month, and the lining of two bathtubs, the doorknobs, and gas and water fixtures torn away and stolen. Fully a dozen similar cases have been reported, and two arrests for crimes of this kind have been made.

John J. Hanlon, of 715 Eleventh street northeast, reported that a $10 bill had been stolen from him in the dining room of his home by a man who had entered the house on the representation that he was a water inspector. According to the description, the man was a seedy-looking individual, about twenty years of age, five feet six or seven, of slender build.

The tailoring establishment of Lewis Slinger, at 501 Thirteenth street northwest, was entered Friday night by a man who stole a watch, a ring, and a pair of shoes, and stole over $50 worth of clothing and cloth.

Mrs. John M. Culp, of 1765 Q street northeast, upon returning to the city yesterday from California after an absence since November last, discovered that a jewel case on the bureau, and a trunk had been opened by some one who entered the house during her absence, and several articles of jewelry and an evening dress, bearing the name of Walsh, Louisville, Ky., stolen. One of the missing articles was an old Swiss watch, a family heirloom, which is highly prized. A diamond cluster ring, and a plain gold band, also are missing.

J. E. Stephens, of 1765 Q street northeast, yesterday and looked up on a technical charge of suspicion, to be held for Headquarters Detectives Parham and O'Brien.

Stephens is thought by the police to be the man who has been victimizing local architects in the past few days. Stephens was rounded up yesterday with a brass watch chain and several other valuable articles in his possession.

Several prominent local architects have been the victims within the past few days of a young man of genteel appearance, who enters their offices under the pretense of asking for employment, and appropriates anything of value in sight. It was on a complaint by Frederick A. Kendall, of Cleveland Park, having an office in the Corcoran Building, that the police have taken up the case.

Kendall's office clerk for employment, and he is alleged, he secured the buttons out of Mr. Kendall's cuffs during the conversation. The buttons were recovered from a shop across the street after the police were notified.

GUESTS OF MR. NEWBERRY.

Run Made Down Potomac on Naval Tug Chocowac.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Truman H. Newberry was the host of a party which voyaged down the Potomac, on the naval tug Chocowac, yesterday evening. Unexpected business at the last moment made it impossible for Mr. Newberry to make the trip with his guests, and his secretary, Mr. Allen, did the honors in his place.

The Chocowac made a run of about thirty miles down the river, and then returned to the city. Those on board, in addition to Mr. Allen, were Messrs. William Spurgeon, J. H. Aubrey, J. S. Shriver, Frank Lord, Hal Smith, John Groves, J. A. Fox, A. L. Clark, H. C. Biggs, H. E. Eland, J. A. Truesdell, E. G. James, J. H. Mock, J. E. Jencks, J. S. Henry, C. Arthur Williams, W. A. Dane, W. J. Carver, J. R. Gow, George G. Hill, and Capt. J. M. Bowyer.

DEVICE TO STOP RUNAWAYS.

Capital Employ Invents Contrivance to Protect Drivers.

Robert Coates, aged sixty-four, a colored attendant in the Democratic cloakroom at the House of Representatives, has invented a contrivance for the prevention of injury from run-away horses.

It is a simple arrangement of a hub within a hub, whereby the pressing of a brake with the foot releases the shaft of the conveyance. The outer hub acts as a brake to the vehicle.

KID'S WOMAN AND HIMSELF.

James Butler, colored, janitor of Strayer's Business College, Eleventh and F streets northwest, shot and killed Rebecca Ross, colored, of 163 I street northwest, and then turned the revolver upon himself and fired two shots, both of which took effect, killing him instantly. No one was in the house at the time, and the cause is not definitely known. The police of the Third precinct, who made an investigation, ascribe it to jealousy. The bodies were discovered by Policeman Murphy.

OUTING BIG SUCCESS

Republicans Make Merry at Marshall Hall.

LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

League of State Clubs Carries Out Well-arranged Programme—Athletic Events Excite Interest of All and Speeches Create Enthusiasm.

Visitors Join in Patriotic Songs.

District of Columbia Republicans, comprising the League of Republican State Clubs, held their first annual outing yesterday, and something like 2,000 people enjoyed the afternoon and evening at Marshall Hall.

The feature and political part of the meeting was embraced in the evening programme, the speakers including John G. Clapers, commissioner of Internal Revenue; William E. Andrews, Auditor for the Treasury Department; and Arthur B. Hayes, of the Department of Justice. All the speakers touched upon the history of the organization, its purposes and ambitions, and all of them were received with real, old-fashioned Republican enthusiasm when they were introduced by President Henry Camp, of the organization.

The speeches were followed by patriotic songs, in which all the visitors took part, and the evening wound up with the unanimous verdict that the league has before it nothing less than a long life and a happy one, and those most interested in the movement are optimistically predicting an enormous membership.

Women Throw Baseball.

But did you ever see a woman throw a ball?

Now don't laugh, and remember what you have heard somebody say some one told them about what So-and-so said about a woman throwing, but stick on your thinking cap and see if you can really remember seeing a woman tossing a sphere in real, old Amos Rustie style.

Of course, you can't; so you should be sorry you didn't see Miss M. H. Burgess win the contest "for ladies." Something peculiar about that contest, too. Almost every other contestant in that particular event carried a commodore's pennant in the way of "Mrs." in front of her name, but one Miss Burgess put it over all the others, something worthy of serious investigation.

You may expect to see the serious-minded club next winter taking up the question as to "Why an unmarried woman can throw a ball better than a married woman" with as much enthusiasm as their predecessors took up the physiology of "Why it is a woman can't throw a ball like a man." That's a long explanation as to why, but the gist of the matter is "because they ain't built that way."

So, possibly, the same elite answer may apply to the burning question of the winter's discussion.

Regular "Bolt" Twist.

Miss Burgess was "tough" to approach the pitcher's box, defined by a white-washed line that had served as the finish in the races for fat, slim, old, and young men, without a sign of stage fright or swaggeriness, but her forefinger around the surface of the ball as though about to put across a Chesbro spitball and let 'er go.

Did she go? Well, rather. Every man on the sidelines almost fell over when he observed the accuracy of that throw, for the ball took its course down through that aisle of people as straight as a string and landed several feet beyond the farthest mark of following aspirants for that pair of canvas-sneaking shoes.

Other women followed, and they threw not "nor-west, and nor-nor-east, and dead ahead, and one almost dead astern, but only two gave any indication of being as familiar with the baseball sphere as Miss Burgess.

They were Mrs. A. L. Hicks and Mrs. E. B. Jones, but, sooth to say, the married women didn't seem to qualify for the event, although there was much audible innuendo that they didn't care to publish abroad their ability to hit the mark; they threw at. Howbeit, the miss took the prize, and the married women have something to ponder over as practice about their heavy weights.

T. F. Langley came a runner in the 60-yard dash for 200-pounders and over, and left a clear field for A. L. Clothier, who finished under the whip, a nose ahead of A. C. Wright, who carried off the box of cigars and permitted Clothier to spread an umbrella between himself and the sun. C. E. Malpas, a 4-to-1 shot, was touted by some of the clockers as a good thing, but he took the rut from the barrier and was not in sight of the money at any stage of the game.
